

2009 Graduation and Prize Giving Ceremony

Canterbury Cathedral, Tuesday 24 November 2009

Association of British Dispensing Opticians

2009 Graduation and Prize Giving Ceremony

Tuesday 24 November 2009

Welcome to Canterbury

I would like to extend a warm welcome to all those attending the 2009 Association of British Dispensing Opticians Graduation and Prize Giving Ceremony. This brochure contains listings of all those who have successfully qualified with a Fellowship of British Dispensing Opticians (FBDO) from the Association during the past year, many of whom will be here today to officially graduate by means of a ceremonial handshake with our President, Barry Duncan. This is a very important and special occasion for everyone who attends, as it enables us to formally congratulate the graduands and other award recipients on their achievements.

Graduation is just the starting point in what I trust will prove to be a long and successful career for the 2009 graduands in their chosen field. For the dispensing profession to grow and develop further it needs dedicated individuals to enable it to move forward and I am confident that the new graduates will play a vitally important role.

I would like to take this opportunity to extend my sincere congratulations to everyone receiving an award at this year's ceremony, and hope that everyone who attends has an enjoyable and memorable day in the magnificent splendour of Canterbury Cathedral.

Mark Chandler

Head of Examinations and Registration, ABDO

Doors to the Cathedral will open at 6.30pm and the ceremony will commence at approximately 6.45pm

About the Association

The Association of British Dispensing Opticians (ABDO) was formed in 1986 when its two predecessors, The Association of Dispensing Opticians and the Faculty of Dispensing Opticians, were merged following the Health and Social Security Act of 1984. The profession of dispensing opticians has been regulated voluntarily since 1926 and, as a statutory profession, by the Opticians Act since 1958. Since such time the conduct of dispensing opticians has been regulated partly by legal provisions, by advice given by the General Optical Council and by ABDO's own Advice to Fellows.

ABDO currently represents over 5,300 qualified dispensing opticians in the United Kingdom, (400 overseas), some 2,000 students worldwide, and over 400 Associate members.

The aims and objectives of the Association are:

- To encourage the study, and continual improvement of the practice, of dispensing optics
- To encourage suitable standards of education in dispensing optics, and to establish, continue and adjudicate a system of qualifying and higher examinations
- To enter into any arrangements with any authorities that may seem conducive to the interests of the ABDO and its members
- To support, protect and advance the character, status and interests of dispensing opticians
- The advancement, for the benefit of the public, of the science and art of dispensing optics and promotion of research into such science and art, provided that the useful results of any such research is disseminated for public benefit

- To promote the advantages of better education and training of dispensing opticians
- To disseminate among its members and others, information on all matters affecting dispensing optics, and publish written material as appropriate
- To provide the legislative, public bodies and others, facilities of conferring with, and ascertaining the views of, persons engaged in the optical dispensing profession
- To provide meaningful and relevant methods of CET (Continuing Education and Training) for its members
- To create greater awareness of the skills of registered dispensing opticians and how the general public can benefit from their expertise

A short history of Canterbury Cathedral

Canterbury Cathedral is alive with history and many fascinating stories. The following information gives a brief insight into the history of this magnificent building.

St Augustine, the first Archbishop of Canterbury, arrived on the coast of Kent as a missionary to England in 597 AD. He came from Rome, sent by Pope Gregory the Great. Augustine was given a church at Canterbury (St Martin's, after St Martin of Tours, still standing today) by the local King, Ethelbert whose Queen, Bertha, a French Princess, was already a Christian. This building had been a place of worship during the Roman occupation of Britain and is the oldest church in England still in use.

Augustine established his seat within the Roman city walls (the Latin word for a seat is cathedra, from which the word cathedral is derived) and built the first cathedral there, becoming the first Archbishop of Canterbury. Since that time, there has been a community around the Cathedral offering daily prayer to God; this community is arguably the oldest organisation in the English speaking world. The present Archbishop, The Most Revd and Right Honourable Dr Rowan Williams, is 104th in the line of succession from Augustine.

Augustine's original building lies beneath the floor of the nave – it was extensively rebuilt and enlarged by the Saxons, and the Cathedral was rebuilt completely by the Normans in 1070 following a major fire. There have been many additions to the building over the last nine hundred years, but parts of the quire and some of the windows and their stained glass date from the 12th century.

The best known event in the Cathedral's history was the murder of Archbishop Thomas Becket in 1170. Canterbury, always on the medieval pilgrim route to Rome, became an end in itself, as thousands came to worship at Becket's tomb, especially after his canonisation in 1173. Geoffrey Chaucer's pilgrims in his poem, The Canterbury Tales, were by no means unique. They represented the hundreds of thousands who travelled to the Cathedral to pray, repent or be healed at his shrine. (The word canter comes from the pace of the pilgrims' horses as they rode to the Cathedral.) The tradition of pilgrimage is still very much alive today. Thomas' shrine was destroyed in 1538 on the orders of King Henry VIII; today, a simple candle marks the place where it once stood and the pink stone before it bears the imprint of thousands of pilgrims' knees.

When Becket was made Archbishop of Canterbury by King Henry II in 1162, he changed his total allegiance from the King to the Pope and the Church. Henry had expected his full support, and there were many conflicts between them, the final one being Thomas' excommunication of the Archbishop of York and the Bishops of London and Salisbury for their support for Henry's attacks on the rights of Thomas as archbishop; not only had the king's agents used Thomas' property while he was in exile in France but, in the summer of 1170, King Henry had his son crowned as his heir by these and other bishops, usurping a long standing right of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Four knights overheard the King's rage and took seriously his shout of "Who will rid me of this meddlesome priest?" On 29 December 1170 they entered the Archbishop's lodgings from Palace Street; the monks persuaded Thomas to enter the Cathedral from his Palace through the Cloisters and into the North West Transept. Vespers was in progress when the knights burst in, and found Thomas kneeling at the altar. Thomas refused to absolve the Bishops and told the Knights that "for the name of Jesus and the protection of the Church, I am ready to embrace death." The knights wielded their weapons and administered three mighty blows, the last one breaking off the tip of a sword. Three days after his death, there began a series of miracles attached to his martyrdom. These are depicted in the miracle windows of the Trinity Chapel. In 1173, Becket was canonised by Pope Alexander III. Pilgrims began to flock to Thomas' shrine in the Cathedral; a year later Henry, in sackcloth, walking barefoot, was among them.

During the Civil War of the 1640s, the Cathedral suffered damage at the hands of the Puritans; much of the medieval stained glass was smashed and horses were stabled in the nave. After the Restoration in 1660, several years were spent in repairing the building.

In the early 19th Century, the North West tower was found to be dangerous, it was demolished in the early 1830s and replaced by a copy of the South West tower, thus giving a symmetrical appearance to the west end of the Cathedral.

In the past few years, ABDO has been privileged and proud to be able to use this historic Cathedral as a venue for the Association's annual graduation ceremony.

Order of proceedings

Doors to the Cathedral will open at 6.30pm and the ceremony will commence at approximately 6.45pm

3.30 to 6.00pm: Registration

Upon arrival at the Cathedral all graduands should report immediately for registration in the Chapter House so that gowns and tickets can be collected. Guests are not allowed to enter the Chapter House so graduands should arrange to meet their guests in another area of the Cathedral precincts after they have registered. If access or seating for the disabled is required please make this known at the time of registration.

3.30 to 6.00pm: Official photography will be conducted by Ede & Ravenscroft in the International Study Centre.

4.00 to 6.00pm: The Celebration Reception will be held in the Clagett Auditorium / Kentish Barn – please note entry is strictly by ticket only.

6.30pm: The main Cathedral doors will open for the ceremony.

Guests are requested to take their seats as directed before the entry of the graduands; they should remain seated whilst the graduands enter, and stand only when the procession begins.

Preceded by the procession Marshal, Rosalind Kirk, the graduands will enter the Cathedral. (As the students enter they are called "graduands", since it is not until their award has been conferred that they become "graduates"). The graduands will take their seats before the start of the ceremony, which is heralded by the entry of the procession.

There will be a welcoming address, followed by a speech by John Shilling, the Master of the Worshipful Company of Spectacle Makers, and an introduction by Barry Duncan, the ABDO President, after which the conferral of awards and prizes will commence.

The exit of the procession marks the end of the ceremony. Graduates and guests are asked to remain standing until the procession has left the Cathedral. Guests are requested to kindly move to the back of the Cathedral whilst the graduates assemble for a group photograph.

Please note that the Cathedral's regulations specifically prohibit photography and video recording under any circumstances, including digital mobile phone cameras; photography and filming are therefore not permitted at any time within the Cathedral during the graduation ceremony.
