

Are you interested in training to become a Dispensing Optician?

ABDO College now offers two distance learning pathway options on the route to becoming a Dispensing Optician; the Foundation Degree in Ophthalmic Dispensing and the Fellowship Dispensing Diploma.

The College, which is dedicated to providing first class training, supportive friendly staff and personal tutors, is now accepting applications for September 2009.

Applications for both courses must be received by 14th August, however, in order to complete the necessary registrations in time for the new academic year, early application is advised.

Need assistance in completing your training?

ABDO College Theory Revision Courses could be just the help you need.

- Do you need some extra help before sitting for your final attempt?
- Are those winter exams approaching faster than you thought?
- Do you need some structure to your revision?

Perhaps we can help.

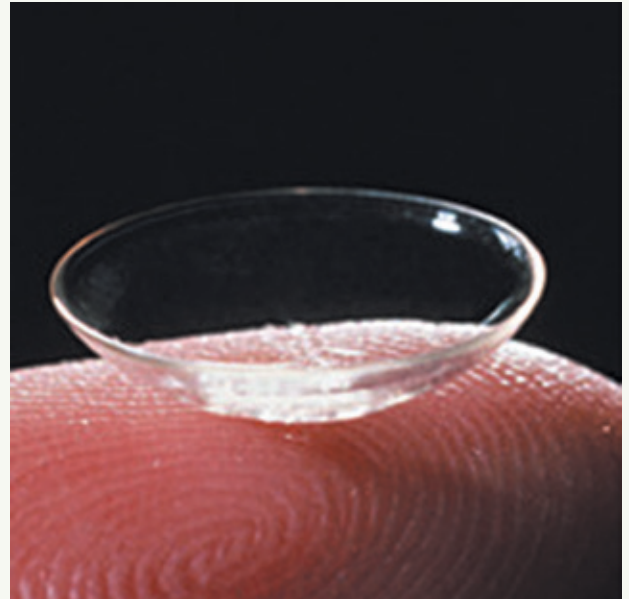

ABDO College are running twelve week correspondence courses for theory revision. These revision courses are available in the key dispensing subjects of optics, ophthalmic lenses, visual optics, anatomy and physiology and also in contact lens practice, visual optics and anatomy. The cost of each course is £360.00 and the deadline for applications is 23rd July.

For more information and an application form for all these courses contact ABDO College Distance Learning Institute on 01227 733921 or email info@abdocollege.org.uk, where a member of the team will be happy to help you.

Further your Career with ABDO College.

Contact Lens Certificate

Are you ready to develop your career, extending your dispensing knowledge to a deeper, broader level? Would you like to be responsible for clinical decisions, to be able to provide continuity of care to your patients, and make their dreams possible?

If you are ready to meet the challenges of resolving clinical and tolerance issues for contact lens patients then this is the course for you.

The Contact Lens Certificate Course will provide you with the knowledge you need to back up experience you gain in practice and help you prepare for the ABDO contact lens examinations. Block release at ABDO College in Godmersham compliments the distance learning assignments and provides an opportunity for you to meet fellow students. Your practice-based supervisor, the team at ABDO College and a distance learning tutor will all be on hand to support you with your studies.

The next distance learning contact lens course starts in September and the deadline for applications is 26th August. Dispensing Opticians wishing to train as contact lens opticians should apply now to secure a place on this popular course.

Getting Started on Practical Exam Preparation

Have you just taken your contact lens theory examinations? Are you ready to start working towards your practicals but not sure quite what to do?

This 2 day course, held at ABDO College on 2nd & 3rd September, is designed to help you. You will be introduced to the timetable of what must happen when and the exam format. Also included will be information about related legal matters, theory knowledge and case record requirements. Practical sessions will allow you to practice your routine and rigid lens fitting.

The course costs £210 and the application deadline is 21st August .

Places are strictly limited so call us now!