

2010 Graduation and Prize Giving Ceremony

Canterbury Cathedral, Wednesday 24 November 2010

Association of British Dispensing Opticians

2010 Graduation and Prize Giving Ceremony

Wednesday 24 November 2010

Welcome to a very special occasion

Welcome to Canterbury Cathedral and the 2010 Association of British Dispensing Opticians Graduation and Prize Giving Ceremony. The magnificent Cathedral building, with its outstanding architecture and colourful history, provides a magical setting for such an important event and I am delighted to have the honour of conferring professional status upon our new colleagues. Graduating in such splendid surroundings is a special privilege and I am very pleased to see that so many will be attending today.

The following pages contain the list of graduands upon whom the Fellowship of the Association of British Dispensing Opticians is to be conferred, and also the names of those receiving higher honours and prizes.

The act of graduation follows a time honoured tradition. The graduands enter one by one to be congratulated and receive the ceremonial handshake. This handshake is the pivotal point of the ceremony, for it is at that exact moment that the graduands become graduates, and from that moment they will stand on equal terms with their colleagues within their chosen profession of dispensing optics.

I am sure that family and friends here today are justly proud of the achievements which we are celebrating. I should like to extend my personal congratulations to our stars of the show today and I hope that everyone will remember this very special occasion for many years to come.

Jennifer Brower FBDO (Hons) LVA Cert Ed
President

Doors to the Cathedral will open at 6.30pm and the ceremony will commence at approximately 6.45pm

About the Association

The Association of British Dispensing Opticians (ABDO) was formed in 1986 when its two predecessors, The Association of Dispensing Opticians and the Faculty of Dispensing Opticians, were merged following the Health and Social Security Act of 1984. The profession of dispensing opticians has been regulated voluntarily since 1926 and, as a statutory profession, by the Opticians Act since 1958. Since such time the conduct of dispensing opticians has been regulated partly by legal provisions, by advice given by the General Optical Council and by ABDO's own Advice to Fellows.

ABDO currently represents over 5,400 qualified dispensing opticians in the UK, it also has 800 overseas members, some 2,000 student members worldwide and over 600 Associate members.

The aims and objectives of the Association are:

- To encourage the study, and continual improvement of the practice, of dispensing optics
- To encourage suitable standards of education in dispensing optics, and to establish, continue and adjudicate a system of qualifying and higher examinations
- To enter into any arrangements with any authorities that may seem conducive to the interests of the ABDO and its members
- To support, protect and advance the character, status and interests of dispensing opticians
- The advancement, for the benefit of the public, of the science and art of dispensing optics and promotion of research into such science and art, provided that the useful results of any such research is disseminated for public benefit

- To promote the advantages of better education and training of dispensing opticians
- To disseminate among its members and others, information on all matters affecting dispensing optics, and publish written material as appropriate
- To provide the legislative, public bodies and others, facilities of conferring with, and ascertaining the views of, persons engaged in the optical dispensing profession
- To provide meaningful and relevant methods of CET (Continuing Education and Training) for its members
- To create greater awareness of the skills of registered dispensing opticians and how the general public can benefit from their expertise

A short history of Canterbury Cathedral

Canterbury Cathedral is alive with history and many fascinating stories. The following information gives a brief insight into the history of this magnificent building.

St Augustine, the first Archbishop of Canterbury, arrived on the coast of Kent as a missionary to England in 597 AD. He came from Rome, sent by Pope Gregory the Great. Augustine was given a church at Canterbury (St Martin's, after St Martin of Tours, still standing today) by the local King, Ethelbert whose Queen, Bertha, a French Princess, was already a Christian. This building had been a place of worship during the Roman occupation of Britain and is the oldest church in England still in use.

Augustine established his seat within the Roman city walls (the Latin word for a seat is cathedra, from which the word cathedral is derived) and built the first cathedral there, becoming the first Archbishop of Canterbury. Since that time, there has been a community around the Cathedral offering daily prayer to God; this community is arguably the oldest organisation in the English speaking world. The present Archbishop, The Most Revd and Right Honourable Dr Rowan Williams, is 104th in the line of succession from Augustine.

Augustine's original building lies beneath the floor of the nave – it was extensively rebuilt and enlarged by the Saxons, and the Cathedral was rebuilt completely by the Normans in 1070 following a major fire. There have been many additions to the building over the last nine hundred years, but parts of the quire and some of the windows and their stained glass date from the 12th century. The best known event in the Cathedral's history was the murder of Archbishop Thomas Becket in 1170. Canterbury, always on the medieval pilgrim route to Rome, became an end in itself, as thousands came to worship at Becket's tomb, especially after his canonisation in 1173. Geoffrey Chaucer's pilgrims in his poem, The Canterbury Tales, were by no means unique. They represented the hundreds of thousands who travelled to the Cathedral to pray, repent or be healed at his shrine. (The word canter comes from the pace of the pilgrims' horses as they rode to the Cathedral.) The tradition of pilgrimage is very much alive today, although the journey is faster and considerably more comfortable. Thomas' shrine was destroyed in 1538 on the orders of King Henry VIII; today, a simple candle marks the place where it once stood and the pink stone before it bears the imprint of thousands of pilgrims' knees.

When Becket was made Archbishop of Canterbury by King Henry II in 1162, he changed his total allegiance from the King to the Pope and the Church. Henry had expected his full support, and there were many conflicts between them, the final one being Thomas' excommunication of the Archbishop of York and the Bishops of London and Salisbury for their support for Henry's attacks on the rights of Thomas as archbishop; not only had the king's agents used Thomas' property while he was in exile in France but, in the summer of 1170, King Henry had his son crowned as his heir by these and other bishops, usurping a long standing right of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Four knights overheard the King's rage and took seriously his shout of "Who will rid me of this meddlesome priest?" On 29 December 1170 they entered the Archbishop's lodgings from Palace Street; the monks persuaded Thomas to enter the Cathedral from his Palace through the Cloisters and into the North West Transept. Vespers was in progress when the knights burst in, and found Thomas kneeling at the altar. According to Edward Grim, a monk who watched the murder, Thomas refused to absolve the Bishops and told the Knights that "for the name of Jesus and the protection of the Church, I am ready to embrace death." The knights wielded their weapons and administered three mighty blows, the last one breaking off the tip of a sword. Three days after his death, there began a series of miracles attached to his martyrdom. These are depicted in the miracle windows of the Trinity Chapel. In 1173, Becket was canonized by Pope Alexander III. Pilgrims began to flock to Thomas' shrine in the Cathedral; a year later Henry, in sackcloth, walking barefoot, was among them.

During the Civil War of the 1640s, the Cathedral suffered damage at the hands of the Puritans; much of the medieval stained glass was smashed and horses were stabled in the nave. After the Restoration in 1660, several years were spent in repairing the building.

In the early 19th Century, the North West tower was found to be dangerous, it was demolished in the early 1830s and replaced by a copy of the South West tower, thus giving a symmetrical appearance to the west end of the Cathedral.

In the past few years, ABDO has been privileged and proud to be able to use this historic Cathedral as a venue for the Association's annual graduation ceremony.

Order of proceedings

Doors to the Cathedral will open at 6.30pm and the ceremony will commence at approximately 6.45pm

3.30 to 6.00pm: Registration

Upon arrival at the Cathedral all graduands should report immediately for registration in the Chapter House so that gowns and tickets can be collected. Guests are not allowed to enter the Chapter House so graduands should arrange to meet their guests in another area of the Cathedral precincts after they have registered. If access or seating for the disabled is required please make this known at the time of registration.

3.30 to 6.00pm: Official photography will be conducted by Ede & Ravenscroft in the International Study Centre.

4.00 to 6.00pm: The Celebration Reception will be held in the Clagett Auditorium / Kentish Barn – please note entry is strictly by ticket only.

6.30pm: The main Cathedral doors will open for guests to take their seats.

Guests are requested to take their seats as directed before the entry of the graduands; they should remain seated whilst the graduands enter, and stand only when the procession begins.

Preceded by the Procession Marshal, Ros Kirk, the graduands will enter the Cathedral. (As the students enter they are called "graduands", since it is not until their award has been conferred that they become "graduates"). The graduands will take their seats before the start of the ceremony, which is heralded by the entry of the procession.

There will be a welcoming speech by Mark Chandler, ABDO's Head of Examinations and Registration, followed by a talk by Mike Barton, the Master of the Worshipful Company of Spectacle Makers, and an address by Jennifer Brower, the ABDO President, after which the conferral of awards and prizes will commence.

The exit of the procession marks the end of the ceremony. Graduates and guests are asked to remain standing until the Procession has left the Cathedral. Guests are kindly requested to move to the back of the Cathedral whilst the Graduates assemble for the group photograph.

Please note that the Cathedral's regulations specifically prohibit photography and video recording under any circumstances, including digital mobile phone cameras; photography and filming are therefore not permitted at any time within the Cathedral during the Graduation Ceremony.*
